Non-exclusive License Agreement for use of audio recordings:

I, Colin Bryan (address above) as the sole creator and owner of the copyrights to the music compositions and recordings entitled: [title1, title2, title3 ...] (published by InterAnnex Web Applications on the Free Soundtrack Music site) grant a non-exclusive license to [user's company name and address] to use the aforementioned tracks as background music in films, training videos, video games, marketing productions, television broadcasts, live events, computer-based multimedia presentations or in any other form with the following limitations:

- F.S.M. recordings may not be sold, distributed or re-licensed as a product except in media productions where the main subject matter is not the licensed music.
- F.S.M compositions may not be used as part of other audio-only recordings or broadcasts or podcasts except as the music portion of larger dramatic, news, editorial, blog, advertising or documentary productions.
- The term “non-exclusive” is here meant to indicate that this agreement will not prevent the copyright holder from entering into similar licensing contracts for the same compositions and recordings with other companies, groups or individuals.

This license agreement will be valid for the life of the existing copyrights (at least 50 years). The licensee identified above may not resell or transfer this license to other companies, organizations, groups or individuals.
